Bernese Mountain Dog Regional Clubs Websites / Breed Rescue – Rehome

If you can no longer care for your Bernese Mountain Dog or you are considering adoption of a 'rescued' Berner, contact a Regional Bernese Mountain Dog Club. The Regional Clubs' Rescue-Rehome programs goal is to place 'rescued' Bernese Mountain Dogs with families that are a good match for the dog. Ongoing support for owners of adopted rescue dogs is available.

Keep in mind rescued Bernese Mountain Dogs come with a "past". Some dogs are turned over to rescue because their owner's have not provided good training or management. Reasons people give up their pet might include such things as - the dog is too big, too boisterous, too hairy, has 'behavior' issues, is too active, needs more exercise or has health 'issues' like allergies or digestive problems. Sometimes owners turn over well trained, socialized family pets to Regional Club rescue because their personal circumstances have changed and they can't keep their dog anymore.

Regional Club Rescue Programs rescue dogs:

- are evaluated for temperament and general condition and are vet checked prior to placement;
- are typically spayed or neutered prior to placement
- Adoption fees may apply.
- The number of dogs available through Regional Club Rescue programs varies. Typically clubs rescue 2 - 30 rescues per year (2007).
- Age of rescued dogs available for adoption varies - while dogs under 1 year of age are available occasionally, it is more common for rescue dogs to be 2-5 years old. 'Seniors' are also occasionally available for adoption.

See the Regional Club websites for more information on procedures for adoption and availability of rescue dogs from Bernese Mountain Dog club rescue programs. The Regional Club Breed Rescue contacts have up to date information on Bernese Mountain dogs that are available for adoption.

Bernese Mountain Dog Regional Clubs Websites / Breeder Referral Contacts

Regional Bernese Mountain Dog Clubs are the place to start your search for a breeder if you want to purchase a Bernese Mountain Dog puppy.

There is a Regional Bernese Mountain Dog club located in your area! See map.*

Where can you find out more about what you need to know about Bernese Mountain Dogs before you purchase one?

—Visit a Regional Club website.

Each Regional Bernese Mountain Dog Club website offers educational resources including information on the breed's traits and requirements, training methods, canine behavior and management, health, genetics, care, feeding, grooming, breeding and showing.

— After you've done a little "homework", and you're sure you have the time and financial resources to provide a good home and environment for a Bernese Mountain Dog.

Take the next step...

— Make plans to attend a Regional Club event!

Club events offer a friendly, casual environment in which you can meet dogs and talk with their owners and breeders.

Regional Club websites list dates and times for club events.

The Regional Clubs' Breeder Referral programs goal is to help buyers find a Berner puppy that has the best chance to live a long healthy life from a conscientious, supportive, knowledgeable breeder.

When contacting Regional Club breeders, be honest and open about what you are looking for in a companion dog and talk with the breeder about why you think a Berner would be a good match for your goals and reasons for keeping a companion dog.

Club breeders will want you to tell them about:

- type of dog(s) you own(ed);
- your current household members, schedule and lifestyle;
- whether you are looking for a 'Pet' or 'Show' or 'Working' dog;
- activities you think you might have an interest in pursuing with your Berner;
- the area in which you live, type of housing, and safe areas in which you can exercise your Berner.

Breeder Referral contacts listed below have up to date information about their Club's member breeders who are expecting litters or are looking for caring homes for Bernese Mountain Dog puppies.
